WHERE are the old time boys with patches on their pants? They are fast disappearing in the luxurious 20th century.—Goliad Guard. Perhaps their mothers have learned to put on the patches so they will not show.

GOOD for Justice Topperwein of San Antonio! He is after the criminal sportsmen who are shooting the female deer, and having caught an offending huntsman proposes to give him the limit. The maximum penalty for killing does in Texas is a fine of $100 and a jail sentence of twenty-five days, and it is little enough to punish the man who violates this law, which is intended to prevent the extermination of deer in the state. Cameron county's deputy game wardens and other officers should follow the San Antonio justice's example, for, if reports be true, there are frequent instances in which does have been killed in this county, and of hunting with "jack-lights," which is also prohibited by the law.

THE sixtieth session of the congress of the United States of America opened in due form at Washington Monday. This body is sometimes styled the "greatest show on earth." Whether this characterization of it is correct or not, there is no doubt that the present session will represent a stage whereon some of the actors will play roles already well thought out, and the play might well be named "President Making," and it will attract infinitely wider attention than any other show no matter how great. While there may be something done in the way of legislation at this session, it is more than probable that it will follow the usual course of the session preceding a presidential campaign and devote most of its time to playing to the galleries for the purpose of influencing the next election. This congress will doubtless have much to do with deciding whether Taft or Foraker or someone else will get the republican nomination.

"AFTER THE BALL."

Echoes of Appreciation from Some who Attended the Elks' Dance.

Numerous words of praise for the elegant dance given by the Elks on Thanksgiving night have been heard from those who were guests on that occasion. Several letters have been received by THE HERALD from persons residing at a distance requesting copies of the paper containing the report of the event, in which the warmest praise is expressed for the entertainment. One of these from Kingsville says in part:

"Will you kindly send me two copies each of THE HERALD of Thanksgiving and of Nov. 29, which contains an account of the Elks dance, which I had the pleasure of attending. I desire to send them to some friends who were likewise as fortunate as myself. We all certainly had a dancé time, and nothing could have been done to have added more to our pleasure. We were the recipients of every courtesy and attention, and we all are deeply grateful."

Another Kingsville correspondent writes:

"Our party that attended the Thanksgiving ball given by the Elks at the opera house enjoyed themselves so much that in order to have something to remind them in years to come of their good time, they have requested me to write for four copies of THE HERALD giving a description of the dance."

A friend at Corpus Christi also orders copies of the paper containing the article, saying: "It was one of the very nicest affairs we have ever attended, and we wish to show the report to some of our friends here who were not so fortunate as we."

"Wild Oats" Unprofitable.

The erroneous idea that all young men must sow a certain amount of wild oats before settling down to a good and useful life still prevails in this mistaken world. It is being, however, rapidly disproved. Just why a boy should make a bad reputation in order to "live it down" and thus prove the good that is in him has never been clear to us. The young men of today are watched by the business element closely, and it is as much to their credit and to their interest to have good reputations as boys as it is to have good reputations as men. The young man who sows his wild oats must harvest the crop, while the young man who sows no wild oats has no bad harvest to gather and thus gets the lead on his fellow who has to lose time getting a fresh start. We are prone to overlook a little wildness in boys and if they stop soon enough, will make good in the business world. But how much easier is it to start out with a good reputation and add to it rather than lose years of one's life correcting the errors of youth. Any young man of today may see at a glance the difficulty a grown man has in living down a bad name—if he ever does it—and then is it not folly to run the same risk in earlier life? Teach the young men of the present age to think, to observe, and they will doubtless profit more by that course than they will by scolding and lecturing. Teach them the value of a good reputation. It is even more valuable than a good education.—Rio Grande News.

Clearing Contract.

O. M. Wakman has just completed the contract for clearing and grubbing five acres of his La Lomita ranch property. These five acres produced 59 cords of wood, 515 posts and 31 railroad ties, which, figured at market price is equivalent to $186.

Cost of clearing and working up timber, $75.59.

Net profit, $106.41.

This made each acre yield a net profit of $21.20 over and above cost of clearing and grubbing and working up timber. 11-30 tf.

Advantage of Kindergarten.

It is singular that kindergarten work is not taught in every school in the land, for certainly there is nothing of greater benefit to young children. How many pupils are there who are so timid when first started to school that it is almost an impossibility to make them attend at all? They number by hundreds. The kindergarten school is vastly different from the first school days, since it combines play with a gradual leading up to studies. Considering the great amount of money used for school purposes, is it not singular that every school does not have a department of this kind? It is not for lack of money, but more because of a lack of interest in what is so very beneficial. It does not seem possible, yet it is true, that there are hundreds of small places where absolutely nothing is known of the work outside of a little reading matter the town people get from magazines or papers, which certainly does not cover the entire work. If one ever knows anything at all about the work, it proves itself that there is a refining influence in the dainty little lessons and the mind is first taught to see what is sweet and beautiful in nature, and by the time studies are ushered in, timidity has fled and the little kindergarten pupil is ready for school.—From the Women's National Daily.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
